friends in Congrees? The President has mere be fear from his own political friends than from the regular opposition. Ever since the Union (his organ) last summer denied the fact that the 46th had been offered by Mr. Buchanan, and claimed the whole or none," the Oregon question has been slipping from the hands of the executive, and is now gradually becoming a disturbing element in the public mind that may lead to a terrible denouement. Mr. Polk is kindly thought of by all parties—but his newspaper organ and his friends in Congress have been endeavoring, either knowingly or ignorantly, to head him off on the Oregon question, and to produce a public sentiment that can only lead to difficulty, estrangement, and ultimate war. The Oregon queston has been and is a subject of important negociation between the two governments, and there it ought to have been confined until the matter was closed. The manner in which this delicate subject has been treated in public, both by the Union newspaper and certain democrats in Congress, has been disrespectful to the President and injurious to the public interest. It would be much better, and more dignified, to take the whole territory down to 5440, and to go to war at once with England, than to be talking—talking—talking eternally about it, and about it. Let us have either peace or war with England—I don't care which, almost—but let us have it at once, and not be eternally talking about it. most-but let us have it at once, and not be eter nally talking about it.

TWENTY-NINTH CONGRESS.

House of Representatives.

A FRENOVAL EFFLANTION—AS AMERICAN PATRIOT.

As soon as the journal was read,

Mr Sirvas, of beath Carolina, rose to a personal explantation, and he asked the Clerk to read the following to the state of the clerk to read the following to the state of the clerk to read the following to the state of the clerk to read the following to the state of the clerk to read the following to the state of the case of the committee, setting forth the facts of the case of Affert it had been read, the words 'I object' were indistinctly heard.

"Mr Emars of South Carolina, raid,' lobject'.

"Mr Warnar as and that if objection to this bill was seriated in he should feel binnesi justified in objecting o every bill on the calendar, let their merits be what his miggit, and it would not be worth while to contain the state of the state o international law, was, that when two nations go to war, it was not only hostility and non-intercourse between two countries, but between the citizens of the two countries. All intercourse ceased. If an American citizen was in a belligarent territory, and if he still claimed citizenship, it was his duty to return to his own country. If he threw himself beyond the jurisdiction of his country, heis guilty, in some sort, of treason, as holding intercourse with the enemy. On this principle, Mr. Van Buren justified himself when some of our people participated in the disputes in Canada. They had gone beyond our limits, and voluntarily taken part in the disturbances of a neighboring foreign territory. It was well known what was the result; some of them were transported to Botany Bay, because they had placed themselves beyond the reach and protection of the American government. Now, if the doctrine contended for be admitted, we will have assumed the doctrine of perpetual allegiance. Now, if the doctrine contended for be admitted, we will have assumed the doctrine in the amount of the principle that a man may change his allegiance. It was only necessary for him to repeat, that, if a pension be granted on the facts stated, the principle that a man may change his allegiance. It was only necessary for him to repeat, that, if a pension be granted on the fact, go back to the British doctrine of perpetual ellegiance, no matter under what circumstances a man might desire to change his citizenship. For this reason, he said, the bill, overshadowing this principle, ought not to pass by without objection, until proper inquiry could be made, and a detail of circumstances obtained, to enable the Mouse to act advisedly.

Mr Warwonth, then rose to a personal explanation [cries of "bear him"] lo relation to this matter, he was as willing as the gentleman from South Carolina, that the circumstances should be investigated. If this claim could not be shown to be founded in justice, and a meritorious case, then he would vote to reject it.

The explanations here terminated.
The committees were then called for reports. A large umber were presented; among them were the follow-

Mr. Singeon, from the committee on commerce, reported a bill providing for warehousing in ports; which was read twice and refered to the committee of the whole on the state of the Union.

MIT. Owen, from the select committee on the subject, made a report, accompanied by a resolution that it be made the special order of the day for the secend Tuesday in April next. He said, that eight years since, the money was received into the treasury, and that nothing had yet been done with it. The committee were not tenecious as to the day when the matter should be considered, but they had agreed on the time stated, that it might not condict with other business. If the House should put it off to some other period, they would not object; but, as the money had been received, it should be applied to the philismthropic purpose designed by its generous donor. The resolution was slopted.

And the House resolved itself into a committee of the whole, and took up the

The bill for the relief of the heirs of Col. William Grayson was taken up, and the debate, commenced last Saturday, resumed. The claim was for three years' commutation pay, alleged to be due for revolutionary services.

Several gentlemen participated in the discussion in the burse of which, Mr. Davis, of Kentucky, said that they at their Swartwouts, and others, plundering the treatry; but let us pay honest debts due to those who uight for the liberties which we all enjoy; and let us, preference to cormorants sucking out our substance, stribute the money among those who had a just claim it.

The Westher Delay of the Mails Settlement of the Philadelphia Duel The Markets Stock Board, 4c.
The second day of spring has arrived, and the earth, for the first time this year, is covered with a mantle of snow, which bids fair to remain in its present position for at least some days to come. Its average depth is about 12 inches, accompanied by the thermometer at 13 degrees. The mails are sadly deranged—the trains of cars arriving from ten to fifteen hours beyond their in this city arranging the preliminaries for a duel, have taken the back track and retreated to their homes. The parties were a young man named Danville, of Savannah, taken the back track and retreated to their homes. The parties were a young man named Danville, of Savannah, Georgia, and Deveaux Powell, son of Col. John Hare Powell. The former was accompanied by his friend, Gen. Harlan, and the latter by St. George Croghan. It appears that Danville sent the challonge, which was accepted, with a proposition that the weapons used should be rifles and the distance eighty yards. Danville, being short-sighted, desired that the distance should be reduced to twenty paces, which was peramptorily refused. On this point, they kept up a cross fire with paper billets for several days, until, finally, it being satisfactorily ascertained that Fowell was determined not to be shot at within eye-sight of his adversary, they all put their heads together, and hencroby settled the difficulty, if any one should ever challenge me, the Lord grant that he may be short-sighted.

There is nothing of the slighest interest occurring out of doors to-day, unless it is the occasional upseting of a sleigh—the streets being filled with them, flying in all directions.

The Markets.—There has been no change in the markets since Friday, the weather on Saturday being so very unfavorable to out door business. Holders of Howard street asked $47s; City Mills, $5; yes four, $375, and corn meal, $3 31; per barrel. Good to prime red wheat we quote at $1 a $104; white corn 00 cents and yellow 64; oats 37 a 38 cents; cloverseed $5.60 a $56 per bushel. Whiskey in barrels 24 cents, and in hogheads 23 cents.

The combined action of the sun and the friction of travel is fast using up the sleighing within the city limits, but in the country, I understand, the snow continues very deep and the sleighing very good. The snow has cause d considerable interruption to the mails, the Northern not having yet arrived, and the Western and Southern being

The March term of our various Courts are in session, and the lawyers are, consequently, full of business.

Considerable activity prevails in mercantile matters, which is owing printipally to the presence of traders from the West.

A limited amount done at the Stock Boards to day, but prices seem somewhat better. Nothing of a local character worthy of recording.

LUCINA CORDIAL,

ELIXIR OF LOVE

ELIXIR OF LOVE

THE great and increasing demand for this celebrated and powerful remedy throughout the British Empire, France, and the United States, has given it a celebraty which time only can efface. It has long been used and prescribed by the most emissant physicians throughout the civilized world, as a savereign and speedy cure for incipient Consumption. Barrings, Impotency, Lucorrhoxa or Whites, Oustracted, difficult or painful Menasuration, Incontinence of Urine, or involuntary discharge thereof; and for the general prostration of the system, whether the result of inherent causes, or produced by irregularity, illness, or accident.

There is not a shadow of doubt that this is true, and ware not the subject of too delicate ansture, handreds would testify to the unrivalled efficacy of the Lucina Cordail as a specific for Barrenness, Flaor Albus, Olrets, Irregularities in the Secretions. Fains in the Kidneys, Female Spppressions, (or the reverse,) Profapsus Uteri, and in fact, almost every disease to which the most delicate portion of the human organization is liable. It cannot, indeed, cure Malformation of the parts, but for any thing short of that, it is officed as an infallible cure, while in all other diseases enumerated above, whether acute or chronic, it will be found a safe and sovereign remedy. The Lucina Cordail is a genite tonic, operating generally apon the secretive organs, and bracing the whole system, without so far stimulasing any function as to produce subsequent relaxation. On the contrary, it seems to act in perfect harmony with nature, and does not create a temporary vigor, but a permanent renewal of the natural energies. The first bottle used will fully convince the purchaser of the truth of all we have asserted.

PERFUMERY ESTABLISHMENT.

THE mabscriber returns his thanks to his friends and the public for the very liberal partonage extended to him since the opening of his Store in New York. Fremising that in Perfumery the maxim should prevail, "either the best or none," he carusetly solicits one moment's attention to he following very intelligible proofs that he is capable of offering the very best, whether the competition be foreign or American, list. He possesses unequalled advantages in Faris, in having been for many years Director of the Laboratory of Laning are free et Fils, for half a century the first house in this line in Europe. 2nd Biaces the first exhibition, some years past, of his l'erfumery, it has, without a single exception, obtained in New York, Boston and Philadelphia, the First Fremium over all competitors, and at the last exhibition, some years past, of his Perfumery. 3rd. His Ferfumery has banished the imported whenever it has come fairly into competition. Thus is emphatically the case with his Shaving Cream Why should it not be 20? His Perfumery is, in fact, the foreign, potential the case which the foreign never can possess, in a quality and mode of fabrication, with the addition of an excellence which the foreign never can possess, and many freshness and advantage in many of these articles of the greatest importance, owing to their perishable nature. 4th, excellence when the sources on skill of his native city, offers the products of his laboratory equal to the best imported, and superior to them from they developed to the best foreign schools, imported with his most of his laboratory equal to the best imported, and superior to them from they developed to the best foreign echocyte, and superior to them from they are foreign, and have been subjected to the influence of his laboratory equal to the best foreign perfumery, and offers at its store an opportunity of comparing the two, and of purchasing according to the judgment or preference of he individual.

It is decidedly superior to any other preparation with which I have any acquaintasses.—"I have made frequent use of it with the greatest possible success, and freely and cheerfully commended it to ethers. I cannot withhold an expression of surprise at the happy effects in have known it to produce in several cases of unlimed breasts and the produce in several cases of unlimed breasts and the produce in several cases of unlimed breasts and the produce in several cases of unlimed breasts and do long and so much with her breasts, that I expected from what we had heard, to find her dead. They had, however, applied "Arat's Relief Salve' that night and the sext day, and to my great satisfaction, I found her entirely relieved. After applying it twice as I had directed, the milk started a stream; they put the child to her breasts, and they are now both doing very well indeed. They call me the Good Samaritan for mentioning the salve to them. I am very gird of being the means of doing some good in the world."

Doctor Hallock—Sir: That the great virtue of "Arat's Relief Salve" may be known to the afflicted, I doesn it may duty to state a few facts connected with my own case. About twenty years ago I received an injury from the fragment of a barsting cannon atriking me in my groun; from that up to the present time I have suffered much distress and pain, and finally it resulted in a diffused ameurism, pervading my leg and foot. During this protracted season of antifring, I have had recourse to all the "sare cures," and highly recommended "Fain Extractors," &c., &c., with us besefut.

Having recently taken a severe cold, my leg was again the seat of most exerneiating pain, and had all the appearance of immediate mortification. I was advised that, is order to save my life, my leg must be amputated. Again I resorted to the rare of the same cures, and highly recommended "Fain
